

Magiclean - the expert cleaner for your home or office

Carpets and other soft furnishings in the home or business often represent a big investment and so it is important that they receive specialist attention from time-to-time in order to keep them looking their best. Carpets and upholstery start looking dull after a couple of years, even if you make sure your family taken their shoes off when they enter the house. Wouldn't it be nice to be able to make them look brighter again without the worry that cleaning products might damage your home?

Local Crowborough business, Magiclean, might be just the company you're looking for to give your furnishings a lift. David Thomas, the man behind Magiclean, started the business in 1992 following a career working for some of the largest UK carpet manufacturers. He understands the fabric make-up of carpets and upholstery and is fully certified, trained and approved with all the relevant organisations; all of which should give prospective new customers confidence in the standard and expertise of his work. Did you know your carpets and upholstery actually act as a filter for many of the everyday contaminants which enter your home or workplace, including traffic fumes, dust and pollen? Daily vacuuming will remove much of the dry particles but there will still be considerable amounts of greasy soils which can only be effectively removed by thorough professional cleaning (as recommended by carpet and upholstery manufacturers). You can even increase the life span of your carpets and upholstery with professional cleaning as it will remove potentially damaging abrasive home.

David deals with a variety of clients on a regular or ad hoc basis, ranging from houses and flats to offices, pubs, hotels and restaurants and a number of carpet shops recommend his services to their own customers. His work takes him all over Sussex and Kent but his preferred place of work is definitely in his home town of Crowborough.

When you get David in to look after your cleaning requirements he will carefully examine every carpet and item of furniture before cleaning starts in order to ensure the most appropriate cleaning technique is chosen to give the best results. He will discuss the process with the client in order to ensure that they understand exactly how the cleaning will be carried out.

The process is designed to cause as little disruption as possible and furniture can be moved and replaced where necessary with spots and stains being individually treated using an extensive range of specialist cleaning solutions. Drying time is around 4 hours so you'll be able to use your rooms again in no time. Magiclean can also look after your hard floors and tiled floors.
